The bridge construction portion of the project is complete with the exception of some punch list items which remain to be completed. This week the contractor will work to pick up the falsework materials and do general site clean-up. It is anticipated the bridge construction crew will be done by the end of the week weather pending. The dirt subcontractor continued to work on bringing the road and ditch profiles to design grade. The grades for the eastern portion of the project are getting close to being acceptable. Fill dirt is required from the west end of the bridge to approximately 300 feet west of the bridge and was placed last week. The subcontractor worked to install the entrance northwest of the bridge.

The final seeding for the Routh box project has been completed. Once seed and fertilizer certifications are received the department will work to make the final payment on the project, and begin project closeout with the Iowa DOT.

Last week the crew formed and poured the west headwall and barrel section of the Tingley 4 project. The crew also worked on forming the east floor section. The plan for this week is to finish forming, place reinforcing steel, and pour the east floor section, then begin to form and the east headwall and barrel section.
