Last week the Prime Contractor was not on site at the Washington 20 project. The plan is to move equipment and materials for bridge construction off site this week. Last week the dirt Subcontractor did a final shaping of the grading portion west of the bridge. Rock check dams were installed and some channel shaping work was completed. The Subcontractor worked on spreading topsoil over the west portion of the project.

Once the seeding is established to approximately 70%, the department can proceed with final acceptance of work and project closeout at the Routh box site.

Last week the crew poured the east headwall and barrel section along with forming and pouring the interior barrel section at the Tingley 4 site. The crew worked on cleaning up the site and hauling off materials. Johnson said the plan for this week is to strip the remaining form work, finish cleaning up the site, and haul materials away. Weather pending the crew will begin to backfill the culvert and shape the site.

The department is beginning to develop the Monroe 4 project, and will be out collecting survey information.

The department is beginning to develop the Union 6 project, and will be out collecting survey information. This is also referred to as the Courtney bridge, north of Sun Valley Lake.
